

LEAGUE FORMED TO DEVELOP PENINSULA

ORGANIZATION WILL BEGIN WORK IMMEDIATELY TO GET
LEGISLATION FAVORING BIG
TIDE-LAND DEVELOPMENT.

The first important step toward the execution of the gigantic project to reclaim bay shore tide lands of the peninsula and make thereon a site for an industrial city of several million people was taken Saturday, when representatives from many civic organizations of San Francisco and the peninsula met in the supervisors' room in the city hall, San Francisco, and organized the Peninsula Development League. Major Charles N. Kirkbride of San Mateo was chosen president, and H. A. Mason, father of the big reclamation plan which is called after him, was elected secretary.

The meeting was called to order by Temporary Chairman Major Kirkbride, Mr. Mason acting as temporary secretary. After briefly outlining the object of the meeting, the organizing for pushing the Mason plan for development of the peninsula, the chairman plunged into the business in hand. Section by section a constitution was discussed and adopted, one of the main points being that all civic and improvement organizations on the peninsula were entitled to membership as well as individuals having businesses or property interests in this region. Meetings are to be held at the call of the executive committee.

Chairman Kirkbride stated that one of the first steps toward the successful culmination of the great project is the enactment of special legislation for the organization of a reclamation district, and that steps would be taken immediately toward securing the necessary measures at the next session of the legislature.

The election of permanent officers resulted in the following being chosen: President, Major Charles N. Kirkbride; secretary, H. A. Mason; vice-presidents, Frank K. Towne, Redwood City; W. J. Martin, South San Francisco; Fred H. Drake, San Carlos; Frederick S. Nelson of the Downtown Association of San Francisco; Marshall Hale of the Retail Merchants' Association of San Francisco.

YOUNG MAN DIES BY GAS FROM CAR

Georgio Cecchi Found Dead in Garage;
Body Discovered Several Hours
After He Worked on Motor.

Georgio Cecchi, one of the proprietors of the South City Poolroom, who was found dead in his garage Tuesday morning, was buried this (Thursday) morning from the S. Neri undertaking parlors. High mass was celebrated at All Souls' Church. Hundreds of the young man's friends attended, the long funeral procession to the church being led by a marching delegation from the local grove of Druids, of which the deceased was a member. Interment was at the Italian Cemetery.

So far as is known, Cecchi's death was the first in this region from asphyxiation from carbon monoxide gas or gas from the exhaust of an automobile.

The young man was known to have gone into the garage, which is on the alley just back of the poolroom, Monday night to work on the motor of his car. The garage is small and had no ventilation. From all appearances he shut the door behind him or it swung shut. Late Monday night the engine was heard running, but nothing was thought of it. When Cecchi failed to show up Tuesday morning a friend, C. Mairiani, went to the garage and found the unfortunate young man stretched on the floor dead. Dr. F. S. Dolley was immediately summoned, and stated that death was undoubtedly due to suffocation by gas from the car. At the inquest held at the Neri undertaking establishment Wednesday morning the jury brought in a verdict in accordance with Dr. Dolley's diagnosis of the cause of death.

Cecchi was 28 years of age. A sad feature of the case is that he was to have been married Wednesday of this week. He was in partnership at the poolroom with his brother, Giovanni Cecchi, and Angelo Genovesi.

STUDENT PLAY WELL PRESENTED

Large Audience Sees "The Private Secretary" at High School.

One of the best-presented as well as best-attended high school plays ever given in South San Francisco was that staged last Saturday evening. The large auditorium at the high school was crowded to capacity by friends and relatives of the young actors, and all seemed unanimous in praise of the show and those who took part in it. The students were drilled for their parts by Miss Rose Marie Price, teacher of the English department at the school.

Where all took their parts so well it is difficult to point out those deserving mention, but the consensus of opinion seemed to be that two of the best sustained characters were those of old Mr. Cattermole, the rich uncle, taken by Elmer Vaccari, and the Rev. Mr. Spaulding, his secretary, taken by Alexis James.

During the evening the low sophomore class members sold home-made candy through the audience, thereby making $21, which was donated to the funds of the student body.

The San Bruno school orchestra of some fifteen pieces rendered a number of selections.

HALFMOON BAY NEWS GETS OUT BIG SPECIAL

The Halfmoon Bay News, the new newspaper recently established at the beach town by H. E. Griffiths, published a Chamorita special edition last week that is a very creditable issue and speaks volumes for the enterprise of the editor. The number contains twelve pages of six columns each with a very large display of advertising. A long and interesting history of the Chamorita is given, which contains much information about this annual feast so dear to the hearts of the Portuguese.

THOUSANDS ATTEND HALFMOON CHAMORITA

Annual Festival Draws Great Crowds to Coastside Town.

Thousands attended the Chamorita at Halfmoon Bay and Pescadero for the two-day celebration of the annual religious festival of the Portuguese people held there last Saturday and Sunday.

The programs at each gathering included the usual parades and the masses on Sunday morning, the celebration at Halfmoon Bay being featured by a huge barbecue, at which four steers were prepared by experts and served to the visitors.

Aside from the religious observances, the dancing of the traditional Chamorita, Portuguese folk-dance, provided the major portion of the entertainment.

The dancing began on Saturday evening, and following the masses celebrated at the church by the Rev. Father R. O'Connor of San Francisco, was continued all day Sunday.

The opening of the Halfmoon Bay festival was the grand parade, led by Miss Mhnne Virtuous of Halfmoon Bay as queen, attended by more than a score of beautiful girls, all dressed in white and forming one of the prettiest spectacles of the celebration. The parade was repeated again on Sunday morning, ending at the church, where the masses were sung.

Drill teams of women from the I. D. E. S. lodges of San Leandro and Halfmoon Bay formed an interesting section of the parade, which included the Halfmoon Bay band and others.

The dancing at Chamorita Hall was attended by scores of San Mateo visitors, who declared that the festival was never better attended or better handled in the history of its celebration in San Mateo county.

VICTORY BONDS TO BE REDEEMED YEAR BEFORE DUE

The secretary of the treasury has called attention to the fact that all 3% per cent Victory notes, pursuant to the notice given February 9, 1922, have been called for redemption on June 15, 1922, and that interest on the 3% per cent Victory notes will therefore cease on that date. As announced on February 9, 1922, the treasury is prepared to redeem any of the 3% per cent Victory notes before June 15, 1922, at the option of the holder, at par and accrued interest to the date of optional redemption.

In "calling" the 3% Victory notes for redemption on June 15th next (nearly a year before their maturity on May 20, 1923), the government is exercising the following option, reserved in Treasury Department Circular No. 138, announcing and prescribing the terms under which the Victory Liberty Loan was offered on April 21, 1919:

"The notes (Victory) may be redeemed, at the option of the United States, under such rules and regulations as the secretary of the treasury may prescribe, on June 15 or December 15, 1922, in whole or in part, as to either or both series, at par and accrued interest, on four months' notice of redemption given in such manner as the secretary of the treasury shall prescribe."

In view of the foregoing, it behooves all owners or holders of outstanding 3% per cent Victory notes to present them for redemption not later than the middle of June, 1922, because notes will not earn any interest after that date. Redemptions can be effected through any bank or trust company in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District, or by direct application to the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco or its branches at Los Angeles, Portland, Seattle, Spokane and Salt Lake City.

SCOUTMASTER URGES BOYS ENTER CAMP

Scoutmaster E. H. Molony has received publicity matter and application blanks for the citizens' military training camp to be held at the Presidio in San Francisco from July 6th to August 4th, and is urging that some of the members of the local Boy Scout troop avail themselves of this opportunity to secure a profitable vacation with board, uniforms, transportation, etc., furnished free. The training camp offers an opportunity with equal inducements to all able-bodied male citizens between the ages of 17 and 37 years. Spending the summer month at the training camp entails no obligation for military duty later.

In addition to the ball game, the juvenile band from San Bruno has been obtained to render a few selections and root for the home boys.

MacBAIN APPOINTED DISTRICT DIRECTOR

Supervisor of Third Township to Act on Highway-Bridge Board.

Supervisor John MacBain is the man who will act as a director for San Mateo county of the proposed highway-bridge district, which will include this county and San Francisco. MacBain was appointed by the supervisors at their meeting at Redwood City Monday, following an address by District Attorney Franklin Swart in which the board was advised that the law provides a member of the board of each county should be chosen as a director of the district.

It is understood that the director from San Francisco county will be named at next Monday's meeting of the board. It is rumored that Supervisor Richard J. Welch will be the man chosen. These two members will select a third, and the three will comprise the board of directors.

As soon as the preliminary surveys, now being prepared under the direction of the State Highway Commission, are completed, they will be filed with the district directors, together with all necessary maps, drawings and plans of construction, also an estimated cost of the completion of the highway and bridge, including the rights of way and interest to be paid during construction.

The law provides that the board of directors shall thereupon fix a time and place for considering the report of the engineers, and upon such hearing being had the board makes an assessment covering such cost upon the state of California and upon the two counties comprising the district, according to the benefits that may result.

The amount of the assessment imposed is payable in five annual installments, providing that should any installment exceed a sum equal to that which could be raised by a tax of 5 cents upon each one hundred dollars of assessed valuation, then the number of installments may be increased to such number that the amount of each installment would be less than that which would result from the levy of such tax.

SEQUOIA ALUMNI PLANS FOR ITS ANNUAL DANCE

The Sequoia High School Alumni Association is making elaborate preparations for its annual dance, which is to take place in Foresters' Hall, Redwood City, Saturday evening, June 17th, on the night following the annual commencement of the school. Committees have been named and are now hard at work to insure this being the most successful and enjoyable affair ever given by the organization. Preceding the dance the annual banquet will be held at the Sequoia Hotel. This will be for members of the alumni, the faculty and the 1922 graduates. The dance, however, will be for the public.

CITY TRUSTEES HOLD BUSINESS SESSION

Street Railroad Company Says Check for $563.90 Now Due City on Company's Franchise.

The receipts of the street car line running into this city fell off somewhat, according to the returns made to the city by the railroad company for the year. According to the terms of the franchise the city receives 2 per cent of the gross receipts. A letter from the railroad company, read at Monday evening's meeting of the trustees, stated that this per cent this year amounted to $563.90, which sum was now due the city. Last year the check from the railroad company to the city amounted to about $613.

Fireman Thomas Schmidt and J. D. Radebaugh had in a communication asking for a two weeks' vacation this summer, and their request was granted. Special Policeman Louis Belloni will act as relief man during these vacations.

Professor Ernest F. Claudio was granted permission to hold a concert and dance in this city the evening of June 24th.

A communication was received from the South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company, stating that it was ready to dedicate land to the city for streets and sidewalks in the vicinity of the new Martin grammar school as soon as the city engineer gave it a survey of the land wanted.

Reports were received from the city marshal, treasurer, clerk, fire chief, and nurse.

The new zoning ordinance now under consideration by the board came up again for consideration, and will probably receive its first reading at an adjourned meeting to be held Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. J. F. Cahill and small daughters, Elaine and Perry, of Sebastopol arrived Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Cahill's mother, Mrs. H. A. Clifford, to spend ten days.

FAMOUS RIDERS TO ENTER HILL CLIMB

Hill No. 57 to Be Scene of Big Motorcycle Event June 18th.

Sunday, June 18th, is to see one of the biggest "hill-climbing" events ever held for motorcycles in California, staged at Hill No. 57 just north of this city. The affair will be under the auspices of Golden Gate Motorcycle Club of San Francisco, and the promoters declare that 20,000 persons will be in attendance to see the motorcycle riders attempt to "go over the top" of the hill. The climb will be on the east side, just off the Bay Shore highway.

Many noted riders of the speedy motorcycle have already signified their intention to compete for the cash and merchandise prizes to be offered. Among them are Wells Bennett of Portland, Ore., Floyd Clymer of Denver, Paul Anderson of Chicago, Dud Perkins of San Francisco, and Archie Rife of Sacramento. Besides these there will be scores of lesser lights in the motorcycle world. All the well-known makes of machines will be represented.

Motorcycle clubs all over northern California are planning runs to the scene of the hill climb. Several such events have been held at this hill in the past two or three years, but this is expected to be by far the biggest event of all. It is made official by being staged with the approval of the M. and A. T. A. and is held under the rules of this organization.

SUPERVISORS IN REGULAR BUSY SESSION

COUNTY OFFICIALS TRANSACT
LARGE AMOUNT OF BUSINESS
MONDAY AND INSPECT PIPE
LINE AT "HAPPYLAND."

Monday's session of the county supervisors held at Redwood City was characterized by a large amount of routine business transacted, all members of the board being present.

After the reading of reports from county officers, the board canvassed the returns from the recent sanitary district election at San Carlos. The returns showing that 70 votes were cast against the proposition and 35 votes in favor, the project was declared defeated.

An application for a permit to conduct a rest home for respiratory disease patients at Belmont was received from Dr. G. E. Darrow. A hearing on this matter was set for June 19th.

A bond for $1000 was filed by the California Land Securities Company to guarantee the return of the roads to good condition after the laying of a pipe line to "Happyland," a summer vacation home for children being established by the company on the hills near Redwood. At noon the board inspected the route of the proposed pipe line, and in the afternoon granted the permit on condition that property owners along the pipe line might secure water by paying a proportion of the installation cost.

August Janoni of La Honda was again appointed fire warden for the summer months, beginning May 15th, at $4.50 for each day worked.

The proceedings in the recent bond election held in the Ravenswood school district were submitted, and being found in order, a resolution was adopted calling for the sale of $28,000 in bonds on June 19th. The bond issue was carried by a vote of 181 to 4, and provides for one new school building and alterations to one other building.

An application was received from F. F. Johnson, a resident of 587 Martin avenue, San Jose, for appointment as engineer at the Community Hospital, and was ordered filed for future reference.

Supervisor MacBain addressed the board on the subject of constructing temporary accommodations at the county farm for ten to fifteen tubercular patients, and was authorized to consult with Dr. Wood C. Baker regarding the contemplated improvement.

W. H. COFFINBERRY CAR STOLEN AND FOUND AGAIN

While the family of W. H. Coffinberry were attending the play given at the high school last Saturday evening, their big Chandler car was stolen. The police were notified and the day the machine was discovered at the water front in San Francisco abandoned. The spare tire had been taken from the machine that was the only loss of value beyond one bent fender. The San Francisco police who found the car believed it had been involved in a holdup. A tassel from the driver's dress was found in the car.

Principal L. E. Adams of the school stated that he saw strange men walking up Spruce avenue past the high school last evening, and that the three seemed to be looking over the cars parked on the curb. At sight of Mr. Adams they walked rapidly away. It is believed they were the thieves.

Probably to every man who has a soul above beefsteak and fried potatoes there have come times when he longed quietly to shake off his responsibilities as one who sheds a cloak, and disappear from the sight of all who know him.

After all, girls wear rouge as on paint for the same reason the shave.

PORTIA OF CABINET PORTRAYS JOHNSON

Calls Him Outstanding Figure of West

Los Angeles (Special)—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, of Los Angeles, assistant Attorney General of the United States, and the second woman who ever held that important post, in a recent letter from Washington to former United States Senator Frank P. Flint, gives some interesting observations of the career of Senator Wm. W. Johnson at the national capitol.

As a member of the staff of the Attorney General, Mrs. Willebrandt is in very close relation to the inner circle of the national administration.

MABEL WALKER WILLEBRANDT

Her letter to Senator Flint follows: My dear Senator Flint—

The home papers have brought frequent news to the effect that you are conducting a fine campaign for Senator Johnson's reelection. I certainly hope our own Los Angeles County will roll up as big a vote for him as it did for President Harding and Senator Shortridge in the 1920 campaign, for our local needs are just as much at stake now.

When I was at home, and 3000 miles away from Washington, I used to wonder whether Senator Johnson's fearless stand on big issues, according to what he believed to be right and for the best interest of our State, irrespective of the opinions of others of the party, had not cost him power and effectiveness, but I am here to tell you that almost a year's residence at the seat of activity has removed all question on that score. I learn on every side that the Senator always plays the political game squarely, with both hands above the table, and with such fearless adherence to his convictions that it commands respect from his colleagues, whether they agree with his conclusions or not.

This was particularly exemplified by the result of his stand on the Four Power Pact. That did not in any way lessen the confidence and the respect of the Administration for him. This Administration is made up of too big men, with too much political vision, to resent such an honest difference of opinion. Furthermore, everyone knows Senator Johnson has been from the very first for disarmament, and has stood loyally by every other important administrative measure, except that.

I think the thing that has pleased me most to see is that Senator Johnson is such an effective fighter that he keeps California "on the map." When he goes after a thing for our State he gets it. It would be disastrous for the business interests of California to lose him. Of course, everyone at home knows that his fight on the tariff has given our citrus, almond, walnut, olive, raisin, and bean growers greater protection than they ever have had under former tariff laws. Few people at home, however, realize the time and energy and fatiguing labor put into the fight for every cent in these tariff schedules. Every Eastern importer of these products fights our interests, and they keep immense lobbies here all the time. Senator Johnson has "bucked the line hard" steadily and consistently, and results speak for themselves.

The centers of population and big business interests are so far East that unless there is a mighty aggressive man on the front line for us the Congressional tendency is to pigeonhole our Western interests. That will never happen as long as we keep Senator Johnson here.

I have by no means always agreed personally with every stand Senator Johnson has taken—at least at the time he took it, although many of his apparently unpopular positions have had a distinctly prophetic element, and general acceptance has later followed.

My interest is not occasional by personal friendship, for I have met him only a few times, but my pride and loyalty have been commanded by what I have here observed, that he is the outstanding figure of the West, sometimes feared, but always respected by those who know him, one in whose leadership and vigorous advocacy of California interests every Californian may take pride.

A San Francisco woman was training a new and inexperienced Chinese houseboy, and among other things found it necessary to teach him how to receive a caller.

"Now, Wing," she said, "when I come home this afternoon I shall ring the bell, and you must pay attention to what I tell you to do when you open the door."

When the boy did this on her return, she handed him her visiting card and had him show her into the drawing room. Before long a caller appeared. Wing took the proffered bit of pasteboard and gravely compared it with his mistress' card, which he produced from his sleeve. At the end of his scrutiny, he remarked:

"Tickee no same; no can come in."

HOMIE PHILOSOPHY FOR 1922.

Better forget this old home stuff and step into line with a smile, because the wagon'll run over you if you stand in the way. Flappers? of course they are nicer'n ever. If you don't think so, then stop lookin' at 'em. Flyin' machines? why certainly they beat the one hoss shay, and they're a mite faster at that? Don't the wireless beat the letter, an' the movie the stereopticon? If you're a grouch, smile just the same, because all of these fangled things will be out of date and somethin' better come along soon. Then you can break in an' say, "I told you so." Meantime listen to what the world has stored up in the air and keep in step.

Some men never kick. They find it more profitable to work.

A lot of men we know "feel good" who are not.

Business Opportunity

I have listed with me one of the best business corners in South San Francisco.

This property is well improved and the income at present shows more than ten per cent on the price asked. This income could be increased.

If you are looking for a gilt edge business property come in and look this over.

PLAIN HORSE SENSE

Better than statistics about building booms, foreign trade, railroad expansion, is this cheering note, that at last a part of our people are getting back to sound principles and have ceased trying to borrow themselves rich. No amount of specials about prosperity being just around the corner, with hints about the country being on the eve of great industrial activity, is worth a line in comparison to the fact that the people have gotten over the bug of borrowing instead of earning and saving money.

It would seem that the people are getting back day by day and month by month to this better condition, for after all the American people are the most adaptable people in the world, and correspondents from different sections agree that the outlook is better, and there is a cheerful tone that was lacking a short time ago. The most hopeful sign of a return to normal condition is the fact that demand for money has not been so keen lately. The farmer has come to realize he can pay his living expenses out of the returns from his cows, chickens and hogs, instead of borrowing money from the banks.—Business Digest, U. S. National Bank, Portland, Oregon.

And still, we can hardly blame some people for not telling the truth. Jail life is anything but comfortable.

Some women never appreciate their husbands until other women come along and take them away.

UNWELCOME NEWS.

Come in, Old Friend, an' chat a while—I love the latest news, pervided they're encouragin' to drive away the blues. . . . There's nothin' like a neighbor's voice to cheer a feller's soul that somehow longs for sympathy on things beyond control. . . . For instance, when the weather's bad, or, when the fruit's all killed,—or, when a heart's so empty that it's hard to get it filled,—or, when it seems impossible to break out in a smile. . . . I'm powerful glad to see ye, Bill, come in, an' chat awhile!

The Widder? No. . . . I hadn't heard. . . . I never knowed she drank. . . . An' cigarettes you say? . . . By George now, that's a-gettin' rank! Well,—let her go . . . the subject's one that I don't keer to handle. . . . No,—Good-bye, Bill,—I never could indulge in any scandle. . . .

Of course, it is possible that some women always weep at a wedding because it reminds them of the time when they made the same mistake.

An honest man need not advertise his honesty, of course, but he should at least advertise that he is alive. All dead men are honest.

All the great truths probably have been uttered, but all of them have not been heeded or there would not be so many fools in the world.

Hang on to life another five or six years. You may have your curiosity satisfied as to the kind of people who exist on the planet Mars. A body of astronomers will use an abandoned mine in South America for the purpose of constructing a powerful telescope 1300 feet in length. This telescope will reach from the bottom of the shaft to the surface of the ground, and its magnifying power is expected to be sufficient to bring Mars within a mile and a half of the earth. We may even be able to settle the mooted question as to the length of the skirts Martian women wear. Don't die yet.

CIVIC DUTY OF IMPORTANCE

Writer of Authority Calls Attention to Need of Co-Operation for the General Good.

Are the people in your community, as a general thing, genuinely interested in public affairs? Or are they so absorbed in their own concerns that they give little thought to civic problems and issues? Is their prevailing spirit one of hearty neighborliness? Do they co-operate to maintain a pleasant community life?

Are they free from the snobbishness of wealth? Are they tolerant in regard to religious questions? Do they frown upon petty gossip and all scandal-mongering?

Have they a proper pride in the appearance of their homes and streets, so that the neighborhood maintains an attractive appearance? Or is their attitude in regard to this—as in regard to compliance with public-health regulations—one of indifference?

These are questions of more than academic interest to you. They bear directly on your welfare, and in especial on the future well-being of your children.

It goes without saying that you wish to see those children grow to be efficient and worthy men and women. Do not forget that the kind of community in which they are reared is bound to play a part in determining the kind of men and women they shall be.

Do not think that if the life of your community is an inferior life your children will be unaffected by it. They are certain to absorb something of its spirit to their lasting hurt. Whereas, if it is a superior life the benefit to them will be equally lasting.

Now ask yourself whether, as a member of the community, you are helping to raise or to lower community standards. Put to yourself regarding yourself the same questions I have put to you regarding the community as a whole.—H. Addington Bruce in the Chicago Daily News.

The Flyless City.

The flyless city is the dream of health officials. McPherson, Kan., with a population well under ten thousand, plans to realize the dream next summer by the enforcement of an ordinance enacted by the city commission, which offers an example to every community which makes the well-being and comfort of its citizens one of the foremost considerations.

The commission, after studying the problem from all angles, has ruled that no resident of McPherson shall be allowed to keep more than one horse, cow or hog within the corporate limits. All barns, stables, chicken houses and even dog houses must be cleaned three times a week and the refuse removed outside the city, where means will be available for its destruction. Every merchant must place wire flytraps at the front and rear entrances of his place of business and all citizens must take similar precautions in their homes under penalty of incurring a fine.—Providence Journal.

Might Learn From Athenians.

To have a grownup body of citizens in a town it is essential that local loyalty, local interest, local pride, augmented by local service, be inculcated and assigned their tasks.

Why not recall the spirit and mode of ancient Athens in her period of highest civic power and grace? The Athenian youth, on reaching his majority at eighteen years, was entrusted with a citizen's weapons, the shield and spear. He took his citizen oath at a public meeting in the temple of Dionysus, where solemn rites to Zeus and the local divinities were observed in connection with a drama. Among the new Athenian citizen

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Captain Phineas P. Scraggs has grown up around the docks of San Francisco, and from mess boy on a river steamer, risen to the ownership of the steamer Maggie. Since each annual inspection promised to be the last of the old weatherbeaten vessel, Scraggs naturally has some difficulty in securing a crew. When the story opens, Adelbert P. Gibney, likable but erratic man whom nobody but Scraggs would hire, is the skipper, Neils Halvorsen, a solemn Swede, constitutes the fo'c'sle hands, and Bart McGuffey, a wastrel of the Gibney type, reigns in the engine room.

CHAPTER II.—With this motley crew and his ancient vessel, Captain Scraggs is engaged in freighting garden truck from Halfmoon bay to San Francisco. The inevitable happens, the Maggie going ashore in a fog.

CHAPTER III.—A passing vessel halting the wreck, Mr. Gibney gets word to a towing company in San Francisco that the ship ashore is the Yankee Prince, with promise of a rich salvage. Two tugs succeed in pulling the Maggie into deep water, and she slips her tow lines and gets away in a fog.

CHAPTER IV.—Furious at the deception practiced on them, Captains Hicks and Fisherty, commanding the two tugboats, ascertain the identity of the "Yankee Prince," and, fearing ridicule should the facts become known along the water front, determine on personal vengeance. Their hostile visit to the Maggie results in Captain Scraggs promising to get a new boiler and make needed repairs to the steamer.

CHAPTER V.—Scraggs refuses to fulfill his promises and Gibney and McGuffey "strike." With marvelous luck, Scraggs ships a freight crew, but the end of a few days of wild conviviality Gibney and McGuffey are stranded and seek their old positions on the Maggie. They are hostilely received, but remain. On their way to San Francisco they sight a derelict and Gibney and McGuffey swim to it.

CHAPTER VI.—The derelict proves to be the Chesapeake, richly laden, its entire crew stricken with scurvy. Scraggs attempts to tow her in, but the Maggie is unequal to the task and Gibney and McGuffey, alone, sail the ship to San Francisco, their salvage money amounting to $1,000 apiece.

CHAPTER VII.—Independently rich, our two adventurers still have a kindly feeling for the Maggie, and, his crew having deserted him, Captain Scraggs induces them to return. At an "old horse" sale the three purchase two mysterious boxes which they believe to contain smuggled "Oriental goods." They find, instead, two dead Chinamen.

CHAPTER VIII.—Scraggs seeks to "double cross" his two associates, but Mr. Gibney outwits him and makes a satisfactory financial settlement with the Chinese company to whom the boxes have been consigned, leaving Scraggs out in the cold.

CHAPTER IX.—Gibney resents McGuffey's action in lending money to Scraggs without consulting him, and after a terrible wordy combat, McGuffey becoming assistant engineer on an oil tanker, Gibney disappearing, and Scraggs, forced to lay up the Maggie, takes a subordinate position on a ferry steamer. Senior Lopez, Mexican revolutionist, makes Scraggs a generous offer for transportation to Colombia. On their way they are attacked by a Mexican gunboat, which they capture, though the Maggie is damaged so that it has to be destroyed. On the gunboat, to which they transfer, they find their old friend McGuffey acting as engineer.

CHAPTER X.—Going ashore with supposedly friendly natives, Gibney and Scraggs are taken prisoners, to be held for a cannibal feast.

CHAPTER XII.

On board the Maggie II B. McGuffey, Esquire, had just gotten into position the Maxim-Vickers "pom-pom" gun on top of the house. The last bolt that held it in place had just been screwed tight when clear and shrill over the tops of the jungle and across the still surface of the little bay there floated to McGuffey's ears the single word: "Help!"

McGuffey leaned against the gun and for the moment he was as weak as a child. "Gawd," he muttered, "that was Scraggs and they're a-goin' to eat him up. Oh, Gib, Gib, old man, why wouldn't you listen to me? Now they've got you, and what in blazes I'm going to do to get you back, dead or alive. I dunno."

It was fully half an hour before poor McGuffey could pull himself together, and when he did, his grief was superseded by a fit of rage that was terrible to behold.

"Step lively, you blasted scum of the sea," he bawled to the mate, and the crew gathered around the gun. "Lug up a case of ammunition and we'll shell that bush until even a parrot won't be left alive in it."

"Aye, aye, sir," responded the crew to a man, and sprang to their task.

"I'm an old navy gunner," said the first mate quietly. "I'll handle the gun. With a 'pom-pom' gun it's just like playing a garden hose on them, only it's high-explosive shell instead of water. I can search out every nook and cranny in the coast of this island. Those guns are sighted up to 4,000 yards."

"Kill 'em all," raved McGuffey, "kill all the blasted niggers."

When Mr. Gibney fell under the impact of the earthenware pot he was only partially stunned. As he tried to struggle to his feet half a dozen hands were laid on him and in a trice he was lifted and carried back of the wari to a clear space where a dozen heavy teakwood posts stood in a row about four feet apart. Mr. Gibney was quickly stripped of his clothing and bound hand and foot to one of these posts. Three minutes later another delegation of cannibals arrived, bearing the limp, naked body of Captain Scraggs, whom they bound in similar fashion to the post beside Mr. Gibney. Scraggs was very white and bloody, but conscious, and his pale-blue eyes were flickering like a snake's.

"What's—what's—the meanin' of this, Gib?" he gasped.

"It means," replied the commodore, "that it's all off but the shouting with me and you, Scraggsy. This fellow Tabu-Tabu is a d-d traitor, and his people are still cannibals. He's the decoy to get white men ashore. They schemed to treat us nice and be friendly until they could get the whole crew ashore, or enough of them to leave the ship helpless, and then—O Gawd, Scraggsy, old man, can you ever forgive me for gettin' you into this?"

Captain Scraggs hung his head and quivered like a hooked fish.

"Will they eat—us?" he quavered, finally.

Mr. Gibney did not answer, only Captain Scraggs looked into his horrified eyes and read the verdict.

"Die game, Scraggsy," was all Mr. Gibney could say. "Don't show the white feather."

"D'ye think McGuffey could hear us from here if we was to yell for help?" inquired Captain Scraggs hopefully.

"Don't yelp, for Gawd's sake," implored Mr. Gibney. "We got ourselves into this, so let's pay the fiddler ourselves. If we let out one yip and McGuffey hears it, he'll come ashore with his crew and tackle this outfit, even if he knows he'll get killed. And that's just what will happen to him if he comes. Let poor Mac stay aboard. When we don't come back, he'll know it's all off, and if he has time to think over it he'll realize it would be foolish to try to do anything. But right now Mac's mad as a wet hen, and if we holler for help—Scraggsy, please don't holler. Die game."

Captain Scraggs turned his terrified glance on Mr. Gibney's tortured face. Scraggs was certainly a coward at heart, but there was something in Mr. Gibney's unselfishness that touched a spot in his hard nature—a something he never knew he possessed. He bowed his head and two big tears stole down his weatherbeaten face.

"God bless you, Gib, my dear boy," he said brokenly. "You're a man."

At this juncture the king came up and thoughtfully felt of Captain Scraggs in the short ribs, while Tabu-Tabu calculated the precise amount of luscious tissue on Mr. Gibney's well-upholstered frame.

"Bimeby we eat white man," said Tabu-Tabu cheerfully.

"If you eat me, you bloody-handed beggar," snapped Captain Scraggs. "I'll pizen you. I've chewed tobacco all my life, and my meat's as bitter as wormwood."

It was too funny to hear Scraggs jesting with death. Mr. Gibney forgot his own mental agony and roared with laughter in Tabu-Tabu's face. The cannibal stood off a few feet and looked searchingly in the commodore's eyes. He was not used to the brand of white man who could laugh under such circumstances, and he suspected treachery of some kind. He hurried over to join the king and the two held.

a hurried conversation. As a result of their conference, a huge savage was called over and given some instructions. Tabu-Tabu handed him a war club and Mr. Gibney, rightly conjecturing that this was the official executioner, bowed his head and waited for the blow.

It came sooner than he expected. The earth seemed to rise up and smite Adelbert P. Gibney across the face. There was a roar, as of an explosion in his ears, and he fell forward on his face. He had a confused notion that when he fell the post came with him.

For nearly a minute he lay there, semi-conscious, and then something warm, dripping across his face, roused him. He moved, and found that his feet were free, though his hands were still bound to the post, which lay extended along his back. He rolled over and glanced up. Captain Scraggs was shrieking. By degrees the bells quivering in the commodore's ears, and this is what he heard Captain Scraggs yelling:

"Oh, you McGuffey. Oh, you bully Irish terrier. Soak it to 'em, Mac. Kill the beggars. You've got a dozen of 'em already. Plug away, you good old hunk of Irish bacon."

Mr. Gibney was now himself once more. He struggled to his feet, and as he did, something burst ten feet away and a little fleecy cloud of smoke obscured his vision for a moment. Then he understood. McGuffey had a rapid-fire gun trained on the wari, and the savages, with frightful yells, were feeling madly from the little shells. Half a dozen of them lay dead and wounded close by.

"Hooray," yelled Mr. Gibney, and dashed at the post which held Captain Scraggs prisoner. He struck it a powerful blow with his shoulder and Scraggs and the post crashed to the ground. In an instant Mr. Gibney was on his knees, tearing at Scraggs' rope shackles with his teeth. Five minutes later, Captain Scraggs' hands were free. Then Scraggs did a like service for Gibney.

All the time the shells from the Maggie II were bursting around them every second or two, and it seemed as if they must be killed before they could make their escape.

As they tore along through the jungle path Mr. Gibney's good right eye (his left was obscured) detected two savages crouching behind a clump of coco palms.

Detected Two Savages Crouching Behind a Clump of Coco Palms.

"There's the king and Tabu-Tabu," yelled Scraggs. "Let's round the beggars up."

"Sure," responded the commodore. "We'll need 'em for hostages if we're to get that black coral. We'll turn 'em over to McGuffey."

"I'd better ease up a minute, sir," said the mate to Mr. McGuffey. "The gun's getting fearful hot."

"Let her melt," raved McGuffey, "but keep her workin' for all she's worth. I'll have revenge for Gib's death, or—sufferin' mackerel!"

McGuffey once more sat down on the cabin ventilator. He pointed dumbly to the beach, and there, padding off to the Maggie II, were two naked cannibals and two naked white men in a canoe. Five minutes later they came alongside. McGuffey met them at the rail, and he smiled and licked his lower lip as the trembling monarch and his prime minister, in response to a severe application of Mr. Gibney's hands and feet, came flying over the rail. Mr. Gibney and Captain Scraggs followed.

"I'm much obliged to you, Mac," said Mr. Gibney, striving bravely to appear jaunty. "One of your first shots came between my legs and cut the rope that held me, and banged me and the post I was tied to all over the lot. A fragment of the shell appears to have taken away part of my ear, but I guess I'll recover. We're pretty well shook up, Mac, old socks, and a jolt of whisky would be in order after you've put the irons on these two cannibals."

At 6:30 o'clock of the morning of the day following the frightful experience of Commodore Gibney and Captain Scraggs with the cannibals of Kandavu, the members of the Maggie II syndicate faced each other across the breakfast table with appetites in no wise diminished by the exciting events of the preceding day.

McGuffey surveyed his superior officers, cursed them bitterly, and remarked, with tears of joy in his honest eyes, that both gentlemen had evaded their just deserts when they escaped with their lives. "If it hadn't been for the mate," said McGuffey severely, "I'd let you two boobles suffer the penalty for your foolishness. Any man that goes to work and fraternizes with a cannibal ain't got no kick comin' if he's made up into chicken curry with rice. The minute I hear old Scraggsy yipin' for help, says I to myself, 'let the beggars fight their own way out of the mess.' But the mate comes a-runnin' up and says he's pretty sure he can come near plantin' a mess of shells in the center of the disturbance, even if we can't see the wari on account of the jungle. It's all off with the commodore and the skipper, anyhow," says the mate, "so we might just as well have vengeance on their murderers." So, of course, when he put it that way I give my consent."

At this juncture the mate, passing around McGuffey on his way to the deck, winked solemnly at Mr. Gibney, who hung his war-worn head in simulated shame. When the mate had left the cabin the commodore pounded with his fork on the cabin table and announced a special meeting of the Maggie II syndicate.

"The first business before the meeting," said Mr. Gibney, "is to readjust the ownership in the syndicate. Me and Scraggsy's had our heads together, Mac, and we've agreed that you've shot your way into a full one-third interest, instead of a quarter as heretofore. From now on, Mac, you're an equal owner with me and Scraggsy, and now that that matter's settled, you can quit ripplin' it into us on the race question and suggest what's to be done in the case of Tabu-Tabu and this cannibal king that almost lured me and the navigatin' officer to our destruction."

"I have the villains in double irons and chained to the mainmast," replied McGuffey, "and as a testimonial of my gratitude for the increased interest in the syndicate which you and Scraggs have just voted me, I will scheme up a fittin' form of vengeance on them two tar babies. However, only an extraordinary sentence can fit such an extraordinary crime, so I must have time to think it over. These two bucks is mine to do what I please with and I'll take any interference as unneighborly and unworthy of a shipmate."

"Take 'em," said Captain Scraggs vehemently. "For my part I only ask one thing. If you can see your way clear, Mac, to give me the king's scalp for a tobacco pouch, I'll be obliged."

"And I," added the commodore, "would like Tabu-Tabu's shin bone for a clarinet. Pendlin' McGuffey's reflections on the hamperin' of crime in Kandavu, however, we'll turn our attention to the prime object of the expedition. We've had our little fun and it's high time we got down to business. It will be low tide at nine o'clock, so I suggest, Scraggs, that you order the mate and two seamen out in the big whaleboat, together with the divin' apparatus, and we'll go after pearl oysters and black coral. As for you, Mac, suppose you take the other boat and Tabu-Tabu and the king, and help the mate. Take a rifle along with you, and make them captives dive for pearl oysters until they're black in the face."

"Huh!" muttered the single-minded McGuffey. "What are they now? Sky blue?"

"Of course," continued the commodore, "if a tiger shark happens along and picks the niggers up, it ain't none of our business. As for me and Scraggsy, we'll sit on deck and smoke. My head aches and I guess Scraggsy's in a similar fix."

"Anythin' to be agreeable," acquiesced McGuffey.

After breakfast Commodore Gibney ordered that the prisoners be brought before him. The cook served them with breakfast, and as they ate, the commodore reminded them that it was only through his personal efforts and his natural disinclination to return blow for blow that they were at that moment enjoying a square meal instead of swinging in the rigging.

"I'm goin' to give you two yeggs a chance to reform," concluded Mr. Gibney, addressing Tabu-Tabu. "If you show us where we can get a cargo of black coral and work hard and faithful helpin' us to get it aboard, it may help you to comb a few gray hairs. I'm goin' to take the irons off now, but remember! At the first sign of the double-cross you're both shark meat."

On behalf of himself and the king, Tabu-Tabu promised to behave, and McGuffey kicked them both into the small boat. The mate and two seamen followed in another boat, in which the air-pump and diving apparatus was carried, and Tabu-Tabu piloted them to a patch of still water just inside the reef. The water was so clear that McGuffey was enabled to make out vast marine gardens thickly sprinkled with the precious black coral.

"Over you go, you two smokes," rasped McGuffey, menacing the captives with his rifle. "Dive deep, my hearties, and bring up what you can find, and if a shark comes along and takes a nip out of your hind leg, don't expect no help from B. McGuffey. Esquire—because you won't get any."

For nearly two weeks the Maggie II lay at anchor, while her crew labored daily in the gardens of the deep. Vast quantities of pearl oysters were brought to the surface, and these Mr. Gibney stewed personally in a great iron pot on the beach. The shell was stored away in the hold and the pearls went into a chamols pouch which never for an instant was out of the commodore's possession. The coast at that point being now deserted, frequent visits ashore were made, and the crew feasted on young pig, chicken, yams and other delicacies. Captain Scraggs was almost delirious with joy. He announced that he had not been so happy since Mrs. Scraggs "slipped her cable."

At the end of two weeks Mr. Gibney decided that there was "loot" enough ashore to complete the schooner's cargo, and at a meeting of the syndicate held one lovely moonlight night on deck he announced his plans to Captain Scraggs and McGuffey.

"Better leave the island alone," counseled McGuffey. "Them niggers may be a-layin' there ten thousand strong, waitin' for a boat's crew to come prowlin' up into the bush so they can nab 'em."

"I've thought of that, Mac," said the commodore a trifle coldly, "and if I made a sucker of myself once it don't stand to reason that I'm apt to do it again. Remember, Mac, a burnt child dreads the fire. Tomorrow morning, right after breakfast, we'll turn the guns loose and pepper the bush for a mile or two in every direction. If there's a native within range he'll have business in the next county and we won't be disturbed none."

Mr. Gibney's program was duly put through and the capital of Kandavu looted of the trade accumulations of years. And when the hatches were finally battened down, the tanks refilled with fresh water, and everything in readiness to leave Kandavu for the run to Honolulu, Mr. Gibney announced to the syndicate that the profits of the expedition would figure close up to a hundred thousand dollars. Captain Scraggs gasped and fell limply against the mainmast.

"Gib, my dear boy," he spluttered, "are you sure it ain't all a dream and that we'll wake up some day and find that we're still in the green-pea trade; that all these months we've been asleep under a cabbage leaf, communnin' with potato bugs?"

"Not for a minute," replied the commodore. "Why, I got a dozen matched pearls here that's fit for a queen. Big red, pear-shaped boys—regular bleed-in' hearts. There's ten thousand each in them alone."

"Well, I'll—I'll brew some grog," gasped Captain Scraggs, and departed forthwith to the galley. Fifteen minutes later he returned with a kettle of his favorite nepenthe and all three adventurers drank to a bon voyage home. At the conclusion of the toast Mr. McGuffey set down his glass, wiped his mouth with the back of his hairy hand, and thus addressed the syndicate.

"In leavin' this paradise of the South Pacific," he began, "we find that we have accumulated other wealth besides the loot below decks. I refer to his royal highness, the king of Kandavu, and his prime minister, Tabu-Tabu. When these two outlaws was first captured, I informed the syndicate that I would scheme out a punishment befitin' their crime, to-wit—murderin' an' eatin' you two boys. It's been a big job and it's taken some time, me not bein' blessed with quite as fine an imagination as our friend, Gib. However, I pride myself that hard work always brings success, and I am ready to announce what disposition shall be made of these two interestin' specimens of aboriginal life. I beg to announce, gentlemen, that I have invented a punishment fittin' the crime."

"Impossible," said Captain Scraggs. "Shut up, Scraggs," struck in Commodore Gibney. "Out with it, Mac. What's the program?"

The money that it once took to make the mare go, isn't enough to make the automobile go.

A lot of good people who "can't get ahead in the world" will be found leading the parade in the next.

Not a Good Catcher.

A station master was suddenly alarmed by hearing a terrific crash on the platform.

Rushing out of his office, he was just in time to see a train disappearing round the curve, while among a number of overturned milk cans at the extreme end of the platform there sprawled a hatless and disheveled young man.

"What's the matter? Was he trying to catch the train?" asked the bewildered station master of a small boy who was standing near by, gapping in wonderment.

"He did catch it," explained the boy, "but it got away again."—Kansas City Star.

Needed.

"I sometimes have doubts," said one of the elders as they set about counting the collection for the day, "I sometimes have doubts whether there is really a hell."

"You needn't," said the preacher, "There's got to be one."

And he pointed significantly at the suspender buttons and cent pieces in the offering.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

FORD HAS TURNED OUT SIX MILLIONTH MOTOR

Ford motor No. 6,000,000 was lifted from the assembly line in the Highland Park Ford plant at 9:14 a. m. May 18th. Just 5 1-3 seconds later No. 6,000,001 was finished.

Ford cars and trucks are now being built at the rate of 5400 daily. These are shipped in carload lots to the various Ford assembling plants throughout the United States.

The first model "T" Ford motor was completed on October 1, 1908; No. 1,000,000 left the assembly line December 10, 1915, and number 5,000,000 came through May 28, 1921.

Although the Ford Motor Company turned out a number of different models prior to 1908, the present numbering system began with the first model "T."

JOSEPH E. RANKIN'S RIDE TO SAVE HIS COMRADES

One of the greatest rides in frontier history was that of Joseph E. Rankin, a scout with Maj. T. T. Thornburgh, when that officer was ambushed and killed by the Ute Indians September 29, 1879, and his command surrounded on the Milk river in northwestern Colorado. When Capt. J. S. Payne of the Fifth cavalry took command of the beleaguered troops and called for volunteers to ride for help, Rankin was the first to offer himself.

All of the horses in the command had been wounded, but, taking one of the least injured, Rankin made a dash along the back trail and succeeded in getting through the Indian lines. Then in the darkness he headed for Rawlins, Wyo., 170 miles away. The next morning he met a party of soldiers bringing up a cattle herd for Thornburgh, exchanged horses and pressed on.

His new mount soon failed him and he was forced to continue his journey on foot. Luckily he soon reached a hay camp and there obtained another mount. On this horse he rode wearily into Rawlins with his news that evening. He had crossed three mountain ranges, had led his horses over trails too rough to ride in the darkness or because the animals were too tired to carry him and he had covered the distance of 170 miles in exactly 24 hours.

Troops were at once put into motion to rescue Payne. Col. Wesley Merritt, with four troops of the Fifth cavalry reached Rawlins on the morning of October 2. Rankin immediately offered his services as guide and by noon Merritt's command was on its way. When they camped at midnight, they had covered 40 miles. It was the morning of October 4. Eighty miles away Payne and his comrades were holding off the Utes and praying for the arrival of help. He knew that his colonel would spare no effort to come to his rescue and he believed it just barely possible that Merritt would reach him by dawn of October 5.

It was a custom in the Fifth cavalry for one troop of the regiment to guide another into camp at night by sounding "officers' call." Surrounded by his wounded men, Payne lay in the trenches they had dug, listening eagerly as the first streaks of light appeared in the east. Suddenly the notes of a bugle were heard and "officers' call" floated out on the morning air.

In a few minutes the Utes were retreating sullenly before the steady advance of Merritt's dust-covered troopers. Rankin's ride of 170 miles over the roughest country in America and his faithful guiding of Merritt's men had saved Payne and his comrades.

Aunt Mandy's Code.

In Georgia they tell of the old black cook who was horrified to discover that one of the young negroes, a helper in the kitchen, had been caught stealing.

"Now," said Aunt Mandy, "I don't believe in stealin'. I never takes nothin' 'cept it's something to eat, or somethin' to wear, or somethin' what I thinks de missus don't want, or somethin' de boss is got too blind to miss."—Harper's Magazine.
